IT'S ALL FREE - YOU ONLY HAVE TO LOOK

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

WE HAVE mixed emotions these days when we ride through the High Sierra. The beauty is still there, the brilliantly clear sky, the mountain storms, the stars at night, the long views, the deep canyons, the heavy forests, the above timberline peaks, the quiet sounds of the mountains, the signs of other days when the Sierra was a challenge to the bold and the hardy.

WE'RE TALKING about a view from the Summit trail, looking across the Mountaineer creek watershed to Farewell Gap and the high country of the Mineral King. We're talking about just sitting and looking at the Maggie lakes - three of them under the peaks of Mount Maggie, on the east side. And we're talking about the old log cabin at Alpine meadow.

THESE, AND a thousand other scenes are still there, just as they have been for years - just as they were when we first rode the trails of the Sierra on the front of our father's saddle; just as they were when we first took our daughters into the hills, just as they are now when we ride with our granddaughter.

BUT NOW the jets roar overhead; there is the sound of motors on many trails; there are people in the hills - hundreds of people this summer, travelling by horse, by trail machine, on foot, by airplane and helicopter.

He will be succeeded by Curtis Lynn, Fresno county farm advisor, whose specialty is grapes.

Jackson has been with the Agricultural Extension service of the University of California for 36 years, starting as a farm advisor in Merced county where he served for 17 years.

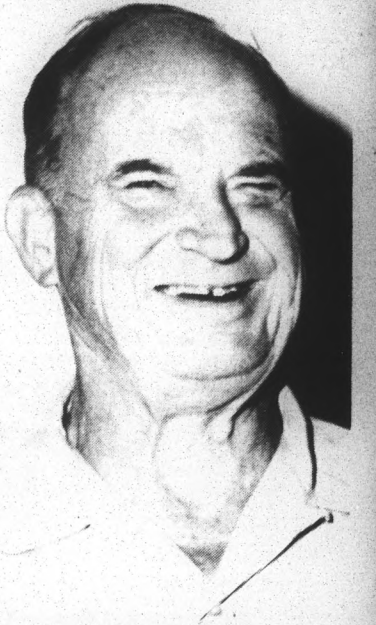

He was County director in Marin county prior to coming to Tulare county on October 1, 1956. He is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley.

Jackson says that he and his wife have no plans for the future, other than to continue to live in their Visalia home.

"I've been planning for 36 years now," Jackson says, "and on October 1, I'm going to stop planning. We'll just do what we happen to want to do when we

Junior Rodeo Set For Springville Sunday; Coronation Dance Is Saturday Night

SPRINGVILLE — Junior cowboys and cowgirls will compete Sunday, August 30 in annual Springville-Sierra Junior rodeo that will be staged by the Springville Veterans' of Foreign Wars post in the Springville-Sierra rodeo arena, with activities to start at 11 a.m. and with grand entry at 1 p.m.

Food and soft drink concessions will be open on the grounds; admission will be $1.00 for adults; children, 16 years and under, will be admitted free.

Activities of the Junior rodeo weekend get underway Friday, when rodeo queen candidates will be judged for horsemanship, starting at 6:30 p.m. in the arena.

Queen and attendants will be announced at a Coronation dance, Saturday night, starting at 9 p.m., in the Springville Veterans' Memorial building, with music by the Inn Masters, who feature the San Joaquin valley's champion fiddler.

Competing for the title of queen are: Rachelle Babineau and Robin Robinson, of Springville; Kristin Bedford, Dawn Hosfeldt, Sandy Sharp, Linda Stieb, Gail Edwards, Dena Turner, and Robin Garrison, of

NEW QUARTER HORSE ASSN? THAT'S THE DISCUSSION SUBJECT

PORTERVILLE — Whether or not to form a new Quarter Horse association in southeastern Tulare county will be up for discussion next Tuesday night at a meeting of the Porterville Fair Quarter Horse Show committee, set for 8 p.m. in the Southern California Edison company living center in the Main street office.

All interested persons are invited to attend, according to Glen Fink, chairman of the Quarter Horse Show committee. He says that if sufficient interest is shown, steps will be taken to form a new association that would replace the present committee.

Major objectives of a new association, if formed, would be to stage the annual open, Quarter Horse show at the Porterville fair, to promote interest in all types of horses, and to conduct educational programs in the various aspects of horsemanship among young people.

In preliminary discussions it

GREAT FOR HUNTERS; BAD FOR FARMERS

It looks like a great day for hunters and, as usual, a bad day for farmers when dove season opens next Tuesday, September 1 for a 46-day split season. Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset; daily bag limit is 10 birds, with 20 in possession after opening day.

Editorial Comment

LET THE PEOPLE WHO PAY VOTE

There is only one fair way to form a new district whose directors would have the power to tax.

The people who would have to pay should have a chance to vote. This has become an almost perennial statement from The Farm Tribune, and we repeat it again as a third attempt is being made to force a mosquito abatement district on the City of Porterville and on the entire agricultural area along the foothills from north of Lindsay to the Tulare county line.

We have opposed in the past, we still oppose, inclusion of the City of Porterville in a mosquito abatement district. We prefer that the city continue to take care of its own minor mosquito population, as it is now doing.

And, long ago we reached the end of the line on this issue in so far as our friends and neighbors to the north are concerned. They say they have a mosquito problem in their areas; they want the city of Porterville in their proposed mosquito abatement district not because they think the city has a mosquito problem but because they know that the city has an assessed valuation that they need to make the total district, as they propose it, financially feasible.

We have suggested in the past, and we continue to suggest that those folks who have mosquito problems find a way to take care of their own problems and let those who are getting along the way they are continue to get along that way.

But regardless of the for and against arguments, there is one basic point that we believe cannot be logically circumvented - although it can be legally circumvented - the point that when a new district with the power of taxation is set up, it should be only by a vote of the people concerned, not by petition and board of supervisor action based on emotional political pressure.

THE CHAVEZ TURNABOUT

It didn't take Cesar Chavez long to change his tune.

While he was in the final stages of the boycott-forced capitulation of a majority of the state's table grape growers, he rejected Governor Reagan's offer of the State Conciliation Service to mediate the dispute. One reason was that it would require a secret ballot by the workers as to what union, if any, they wanted to represent them.

Hardly had Chavez got a lock on the grape workers than the Teamsters Union stole a march on him by signing up many growers of other crops, in the Salinas area. The sainted Chavez blew his cool. In language quoted as being profane, he threatened to sue the Teamsters for stealing "his" workers, and - for goodness sakes - depriving them of "free choice in the selection of a bargaining agent and negotiations of an acceptable collective bargaining agreement."

He even challenged Governor Reagan to enter the inter-union dispute to force an election by the workers!

It should be rather clear by now that the gospel according to Chavez is "Render unto Cesar the things that Cesar wants at the moment."

CAMPUS UNREST POSES SERIOUS PROBLEM, DESERVES AN HONEST APPRAISAL, SAYS CONGRESSMAN

WASHINGTON D.C. — Congressman Bob Mathias has told his colleagues in the House of Representatives that he is "very concerned about the ability of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest to objectively and fairly investigate the problems on our campuses and then formulate positive and workable solutions."

He explained that his concern is based upon "the political philosophies and associations" of some of the top staff people serving on the commission, also from an "awareness that most of the witnesses that have testified before the commission represent a liberal or radical viewpoint."

Mathias' remarks appeared in the Congressional Record of August 12. His comments were accompanied by a statement by Congressman Barry Goldwater, Jr., which he included, showing that the staff is dominated by people with leftist philosophies and associations.

"I have also learned," said Mathias, "that of all the students who have testified before the Scranton commission, all but one adhere to a liberal or radical philosophy."

"The overwhelming majority of our college and university student bodies are composed of men and women who want to get a good education and who are not interested in disrupting the campuses. These students have the same right to appear before the commission as radical students."

Mathias emphasized that campus unrest poses a serious problem and deserves an honest appraisal.

"Unless the Commission on Campus Unrest has a well-balanced staff and witness list," said Mathias, "I am afraid the commission report will be a complete whitewash and a political indictment against the Nixon administration."

The 18th District Congressman in a later statement said, "At a time when a severe crisis is gripping our Nation's institutions of higher learning, we need to know the complete and unbiased story concerning campus disorders and what needs to be done in the way of positive solutions. The American people will accept nothing less from the Commission on Campus Unrest."

WE ONLY HEARD

THE SIERRA is getting crowded.

WE SUPPOSE the young mountain men of a hundred years ago said the same thing in the later period of their lives; we suppose our granddaughter will lament the same fact when she gets older. And we suppose that to each individual, as the years go by, the Sierra becomes part fact, part memory, part dream, and part regret because things just aren't like they used to be.

BUT TO the youngsters in the photos - Kit Daybell, Mary Margaret Camp, and Leana Bartholomew - the Sierra is something wonderful, as it is, just as it was something wonderful when the first mountain men saw it, as it was.

AND THE Sierra will always be wonderful and beautiful for those who see it as it will be - even though people continue to change it so that other people - more and more of them - can enjoy it.

FREDRICK COMBS, San Rafael—"The main goals of this country for the 70's should be to solve our own problems and quit trying to be the world's policeman."

ROBERT J. BOYD, Norwalk—"It is strange that to give the women the right to vote it required a constitutional amendment, but now to lower the voting age to 18 it only requires a Supreme Court decision (upholding Congressional action)."

LIGHTNING FIRES ALLOWED TO BURN IN SOME PARK AREAS

THREE RIVERS — Lightning fires are again being allowed to run their course as they did in pre-historic times in designated sections of Sequoia and Kings Canyon National parks.

This research program, the only one of its kind in this country, is aimed at restoring natural processes to Park wildlands.

According to Superintendent John S. McLaughlin, years of fire suppression have largely eliminated the influence of fire in certain areas, resulting in unnatural conditions. Thus, the National Park service is restoring natural fire in the environmental process.

County Exhibit Places Second At State Fair

VISALIA — Tulare county's display at the California State Fair and Exposition in Sacramento has been awarded the second place trophy, an appropriate red ribbon in the counties' competition in the recreation category, and $1400 in premium money. San Bernardino County was awarded first place.

The exhibit is an animated, colorfully dressed Hindu Swami, who extends 20 feet into the air, gazing into a four foot transparent crystal ball. The crystal ball, containing a flashing neon lighted sign "Tulare County," clearly identifies the exhibit and signifies in the lettered theme that "Tulare County Has All The Answers."

Visitors can get answers to their questions by merely pressing a button on one of four electric panel boards. The answer will immediately appear by means of small lights mounted on maps of the county in the display and also by color transparencies.

NEW DIAL TONE ON TELEPHONES

PORTERVILLE — Telephones are speaking with a lower-pitched, more pleasant dial tone since August 25 - but operation of the system remains the same, according to Bob Board, Pacific Telephone manager in Porterville, who says the different dial tone is a built-in feature of new switching gear recently installed in the Porterville central office. The new dial tone affects only those customers in the "781" and "784" prefixes.

District Attorney Is Critical Of Judge's Action In Releasing Convicted Felon And Dope Addict

VISALIA — The release from custody by Superior Court Judge John R. Locke of a convicted felon who had also been adjudged a narcotic addict with the order that he surrender himself at a later date for transportation to the narcotic rehabilitation center, has been criticized by Tulare County District Attorney Robert G. Bereman.

The comments came in the courtroom of Judge Locke when Juan Torres Soto, also known as Johnny Soto, 23, of Visalia, appeared in court for disposition of the second felony charge against him in the past two months.

On July 2, Soto was convicted by his plea of guilty to a felony charge of possession of heroin. Narcotics addict proceedings were instituted and on July 24, after hearing on the reports of the two doctors who were appointed to examine him, Judge Locke adjudged him to be a narcotic addict. At the same time, the Judge permitted Soto to remain at liberty on bail for another week with the order that he surrender himself on July 31, to the Sheriff for transportation to the Narcotics Rehabilitation center.

During the week Soto was permitted to remain on bail, the Bearcat Sport Center in Visalia was burglarized, and 29 guns were stolen. Two of these guns were sold by Johnny Soto on July 29, two days before he was to surrender himself to custody. Based upon his having the two guns, the District Attorney filed a felony charge of receiving stolen property against Soto. He was convicted by his plea of guilty of this charge and came before the Court for disposition of that charge. He was committed to the Narcotics Rehabilitation center on this charge also, and remanded to custody this time for transportation to the Center.

Bereman stated, "There is no right to bail provided by law after conviction of this felony and adjudication as a narcotics addict. This man should have been kept in custody until his transportation to the rehabilitation center could be arranged for by the Sheriff. At the most this would only have been a day or two. If he had been in custody, he could not have committed the second felony. The people would have been saved the expense of processing him twice."

"A substantial factor in our serious crime problem and our crowded court calendars is this commission of subsequent crimes by those who have already committed one or more, and who are permitted to be at liberty pending final disposition of the first or previous crimes. We all should be devoting our efforts to this part of the problem, as well as seeking solutions in other areas."

"If we could prevent a repetition of this Soto case - and it can be done - we would also be bringing about a reduction in the number of crimes committed and thus also relief for the crowded condition of our criminal court calendars. And make no mistake, in the case of a narcotic addict we can be almost sure in advance that if released from custody he will commit further crimes because he is more or less helpless to do otherwise."

Spotted Alfalfa Aphid Damaging Alfalfa Fields In Tulare County

VISALIA — The spotted alfalfa aphid (a destructive pest in alfalfa from 1954 to 1962, before resistant varieties were developed) is at present again damaging alfalfa fields in Tulare county, according to Tulare County Farm Advisor William R. Sallee. Moderate to high populations of this pest has infested alfalfa varieties that had been resistant in 1968; it was not a problem in this area last year.

Injuries to alfalfa are: Quality damage - Spotted alfalfa aphid feeding on alfalfa secretes honeydew that molds and turns the hay black. The aphid also causes loss of the lower leaves. Reduced yields: Uncontrolled infestations of the spotted alfalfa aphid can reduce the yields when high populations are uncontrolled. Harvesting problems: The honeydew in heavily infested alfalfa fields may be so abundant that harvesting is very difficult. The wind rows become a sticky mat and difficult or impossible to bale.

Growers are urged to check their fields for damaging populations of the spotted alfalfa aphid. Control measures should be taken when 20 or more spotted alfalfa aphid are found in the absence of natural controls, predators, parasites and fungus disease.

Systox, at the rate of one-half pint per acre, is the preferred material because of its low toxicity to beneficial insects. There is a 14-day waiting period between application and harvest.

Other pests are also causing damage in alfalfa fields, Sallee states: The alfalfa caterpillar that can be detected by ragged alfalfa where the caterpillars have been feeding; and the pea aphid that sucks juice from the tender parts of the alfalfa plant and that can be distinguished by its large, green, round body.

For details on control of these alfalfa pests, Sallee recommends the bulletin, "1970 Pest and Disease Control Program for Alfalfa Hay," available at the Farm and Home Advisors' office in the Agricultural building, Visalia.

Beard Named Fire Chief For Porterville

PORTERVILLE — Ralph C. Beard has been named chief of the Porterville fire department, replacing Jess Given, who recently resigned, it was announced this week by City Manager Ed Valliere.

Beard, who had served as assistant chief since 1962, has been a member of the Porterville fire department for the past 30 years. He began fire control and prevention work with the State Division of Forestry during the summers while a student at Bakersfield high school.

Joining the Porterville Fire department in 1940, Beard took a break in duty during World War II to serve in the Army from 1942 to 1945.

He is a past commander of Mount Whitney Post 2001, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is a past president of the Porterville City Employees' association.

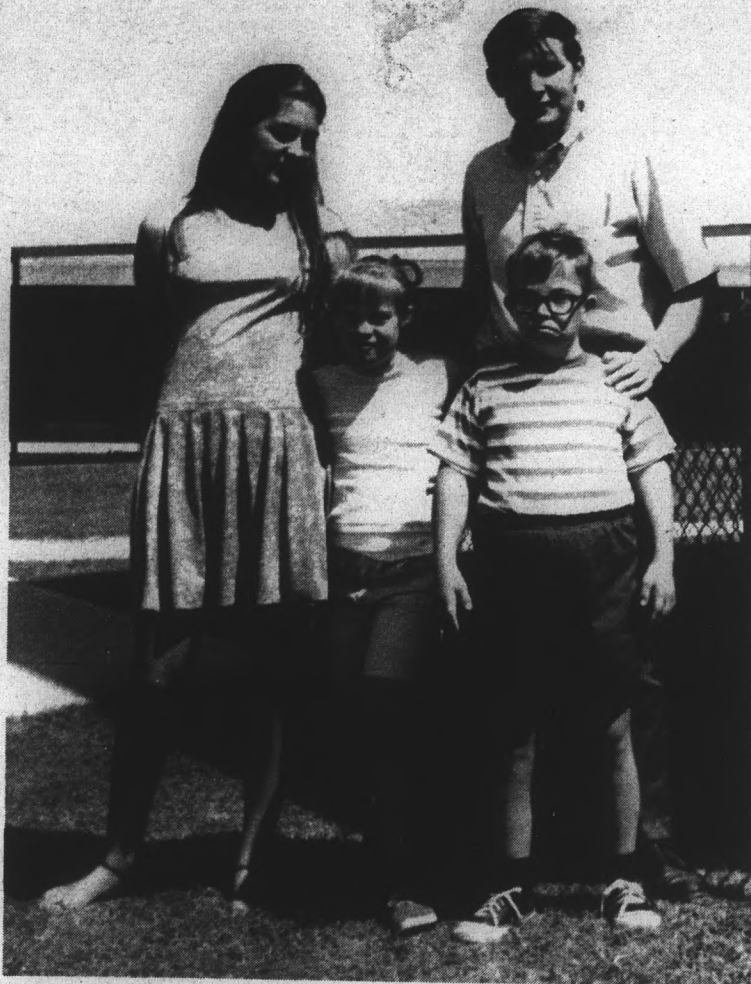

CAROL LEESCH TO BE HONORED BY SOCIETY

HOUSTON, TEXAS — Carol B. Leesch, administrator of the Sierra View District hospital in Porterville, will be advanced to Membership Status in the American College of Hospital Administrators on Sunday Afternoon, September 13, at a convocation ceremony to be held in Houston's Astroworld hotel.

The announcement was made by Arnold L. Swanson, M.D., of London, Ontario, president of the ACHA, a professional society comprised of more than 9,000 of the leading hospital and health-care administrative personnel in the United States and Canada.

The ceremony will mark the opening of the College's Annual meeting, traditionally held in conjunction with the convention of the American Hospital association.

For Algernon" will be presented next Tuesday night at the Porterville Memorial auditorium as a benefit for the Good Shepherd Home, under sponsorship of Post 20, The American Legion.

"FLOWERS FOR ALGERNON" TUESDAY AS GOOD SHEPHERD HOME BENEFIT

PORTERVILLE — "Flowers For Algernon," the story of a mentally retarded man and the impact of his retardation in his family, will be presented on the stage of the Porterville Memorial auditorium Tuesday, September 1, as a benefit for the Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West.

Directing the cast of experienced players from the Bakersfield area, is a former Porterville drama teacher, June Pixton Gaede. Sponsoring the production is Porterville Post 20, The American Legion.

Playing the lead role of Charlie Gordon will be Kenneth Lopecky; other major parts will be done by Michael Cariker, Sylvia Rugnaos, Steve Nall and Helen Freed.

The Algernon in the story of a moron cum genius is a laboratory mouse that has attained a fantastic level of mental achievement through means of experimental neuro-surgery. Fate of Charlie is tied closely to that of the mouse, and when Algernon begins to behave strangely the story moves toward its climax.

In 1969 Actor Cliff Robertson received an Oscar for his work in the title role of the motion picture version of the play.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.; all seats are $1.00; tickets can be purchased in Porterville at Leggett's, Juven-Aire, and Smith's Drug. Tickets will also be available at the door.

Licensed Vocational Nursing Class Being Formed At Porterville College

PORTERVILLE — Porterville college is accepting applications for a new class in Licensed Vocational Nursing, scheduled to begin in January. Deadline for applications is December 1.

The basis for student selection include (1) completion of the 10th grade or its equivalent as established by testing, (2) be between 18-50 years of age, (3) pass a personal interview with a member of the Nursing faculty, and (4) present results of a physical examination to show capability to undertake the training.

The LVN program is a 3-semester course. Classes meet on the college campus and clinical training is conducted at approved hospitals within the area. Students accepted are required to spend 30 hours per week in the program.

There is no tuition charged. However, the student will need to purchase textbooks, uniforms and incidental supplies amounting to around $100 for the training period.

Students in the program earn 51 units of college credit and may complete the Associate in Arts degree by taking an additional 12 units.

The career opportunities for Licensed Vocational Nurses in hospitals, convalescent and nursing homes in the Porterville area are extremely good, it is stated. A graduate of the program can expect to earn about $450 monthly.

Persons interested in being accepted for the class should call the college at 781-3130 to have a brochure mailed and contact Burl Cuffman, chairman of the Life Science Nursing division to arrange for an interview.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

I was certainly talking to the wrong persons when I said something nice about OUR Porterville Union High school. Dolores Osti and Paula Krueger nearly jumped down my throat. It seems that Monache High school is going to beat the dickens out of P.U.H.S. and Dolores knows because she is the Senior Sports Editor for the Monoway. The Monoway is the year book for Monache high. It seems that the sports writers around OUR TOWN have got the whole sports scene upside down. It is Monache that will be the best of everything, and Dolores said so. Paula sided with Dolores, and was very excited about her new car. A yellow Rambler with a black top, and if they are packed in correctly, 40 avid sports fans can be sure of transportation to all the games. Paula said so, I think.

Kiwanis had it's picnic this year up at Pine Mountain Ranch, and all that lovely clean air was a treat. Nancy and Pierce Johnson own the ranch, and John and Wanda Begley invited us all up for the fun. John works on construction of the houses and things and we had a lovely time. John Osti and Paul Krueger had a horseshoe game going, and Nelson Nickell was keeping score. Nelson told me his father's name was John Tenpenny, and I had all kinds of ideas of working the names together, and now I can't remember my good ideas, but Nickell and Tenpenny should add up to something. At least fifteen cents.

There was lots to do up there. Horseback riding, swimming, movie, and good eating and breathing. It was a sad shock to come down into the smog. Gordon Hensley, Chuck's son, strummed on a guitar, and the girls peeked at him through their long hair. Connie Kapellas and Valli Johnson were very busy picking up all the cans and keeping track of all the money they hoped to make. Anyone drinking from a can was subject to close attention, and you were lucky if you could finish it before the two little money makers snatched it out of your hands. The girls collected fifty six and one half cents worth, and all they had to do then was to take them to Los Angeles via their delighted parents. Needless to say there were no litter bugs around that ranch.

Ken Miller was really the best horseshoe thrower. I rooted faithfully for my better half, and Ken's wife Lois was just as noisy rooting for Ken.

Barbara and Bruce Boaz are going to be the new teachers at California Hot Springs, and the kids from Pine Mountain will go down there to school. Twenty one children sprinkled through the six grades. A perfect size for a country school. Bruce plays a delightful guitar, which should help.

Pat Nixon has decided to keep the Stars and Stripes flying at night just like the Lumleys. She is going to have a floodlight too, just like the Lumleys. Copycat!

Happiness is being near enough to go to the mountains and breathe. Just so we won't forget how it really is.

No Plan To Move Aircraft Repair To NAS Lemoore

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Gordon Duffy has been notified that the Navy does not plan to transfer any of the aircraft repair program from Alameda to NAS Lemoore. Letters from Senators George Murphy and Allan Cranston, and Congressman Bernie Sisk confirm that because of the extreme shortage of funds such an undertaking would not be in the best interests of the overall Navy program at this time.

Duffy had asked earlier that Lemoore receive part of the aircraft repair program equal to that which was slated to occupy the controversial 95 acre San Francisco Bay fill project. The fill project was cancelled because it reportedly would destroy the environment.
